

Selection of Journal Article Topic: Think of a question either related to your childhood or one that relates to children growing up in this day in your family, neighborhood, state, or country that is you would like to learn more about. Also think why this is important for you to understand. For example you as an adult interested in children you might be curious to find out more about:

- a) Can young children learn two languages at one time?
- b) How does a child experience the loss of a pet or parent or a close friend ?
- c) Why do children have imaginary friends?
- d) What is parents' role in sibling rivalry?

1. Explore potential databases for your topics of interest. Do keep track of databases you surf and the various interests you are checking out. This will help with your reflection paper.

2. Narrow your selection to two articles. Again keep track of what is guiding your choice. POST THIS ON THE WEBSITE. Please cut and paste on to the discussion board the following completed form.

1. Journal Article Title: _____	2. Journal Article Title: _____
Author: _____	Author: _____
Publication Information: _____	Publication Information: _____
Persistent Link: _____	Persistent Link: _____
My reasons for selecting this article are:.....	My reasons for selecting this article are:

- 3. Read the articles again, compare, re-evaluate in your context, and select one that really seems to be of value to you.
- 4. Post your response on to the discussion board using the outline that will be posted after Step 2 is completed; (this includes responding to two others in your group)
- 5. Complete the Journal Article Summary and post for peer comments.