Dr. Vincent Cannato was born and raised in the suburbs of New York City. He received his PhD from Columbia University and is now a professor of history at the University of Massachusetts Boston. He is the author of The Ungovernable City: John Lindsay and his Struggle to Save New York; which follows the rise and fall of one of New York's most unlikely and misunderstood political figures. His forthcoming book, Guarding the Gate: A History of Ellis Island, examines Ellis Island's place in the making of modern America. The Teaching American History Project is proud to welcome Dr. Cannato to discuss his research and provide new insight into one of America's most revered landmarks.
